Apologies for the different question I am using an O365 account. Q: How to launch app from URL (in background) I want to launch an app via url (inside a web page) and execute the following code: -

(void)applicationDidFinishLaunching:(UIApplication *)application { NSLog(@"Application Started"); [[UIApplication sharedApplication] openURL:[NSURL URLWithString:@"mysite.com/welcome"]; } How do I get my welcome page to display in the background? A: You can have your web server run some script for you which will open the app if needed. The easiest way would be to have a script which checks the user agent string to determine what application the user is using and then opens the app. You can pass parameters to your script to make your site more dynamic. In the clinic of the Centre for Traumatology and Rehabilitation of the Population and Practical Medicine of the State Insurance Fund for Rehabilitation of the Population, annual examinations were made of 120 patients with inflammatory diseases of the locomotor system. In patients with low efficacy of rehabilitation treatment and poor compliance with prescribed therapy patients, who had manifestations of pathogenetic inflammation of the locomotor system and neurovascular disorders, the humoral and cellular mechanisms of inflammation appeared to be substantially more important. Marriage Equality USA (MEUSA) has announced the names of the nine families who will receive $15,000 each through its Compassionate Fund to support their legal battle in Maine. The fund was launched in April by MEUSA as a means to allow individuals and organizations supporting the cause of marriage equality to help those in their area who have to fight their own battle. "MEUSA's compassion fund is a small, but meaningful way for those in states that still do not recognize marriage equality to help the families who are facing heartbreak and other obstacles from those who oppose their freedom to marry," said Christina Windle, vice president of governmental affairs at MEUSA.
